

MORE THAN 100 UAS EXHIBITORS ONBOARD FOR COMMERCIAL UAV EXPO AMERICAS 2019

Record early commitments dwarf those of any other commercial drone event in the Americas

LAS VEGAS, NV, July 15, 2019 – More than 100 of the world’s top UAS vendors have signed on to showcase their solutions at the 2019 Commercial UAV Expo Americas, far more than any other commercial drone event in North America. These exhibitors will be displaying cutting-edge airframes, components, software and services as well as end-to-end solutions focused on commercial applications. They are the best in terms of innovation, and their products and services will offer the event’s 2,500 attendees access to the newest technology on the market. The fifth annual Commercial UAV Expo Americas will take place October 28-30, 2019 at the Westgate Resort & Casino in Las Vegas.

“Year after year, we deliver the highest quality audience for our exhibitors and we are thrilled that so many best-in-class UAS vendors in the market have already committed to exhibiting at our fifth annual event,” said Lisa Murray, Group Director of Diversified Communications, organizer of Commercial UAV Expo Americas. “This year we are featuring many new companies as well as welcoming back those that have supported us since the launch of the event. Exhibitors are coming from around the world to showcase their new and innovative products.” She added that companies are signing on to exhibit daily, and that the exhibit hall will have around 230 booths.

Exhibits are free to visit for anyone who registers in advance for the event. A robust education program is also offered; commercial drone professionals are encouraged to register before July 31 for the best conference prices. Registration is available online here.

“Being able to see hundreds of products and speak to technical leads all in one place at one time is invaluable for professionals trying to determine the solutions that best meet their needs,” said Ms.

Murray. “We help streamline the process by bringing together the right mix of best-in-class commercial UAS suppliers.” Attendees will be able to qualify and compare products and services from these exhibitors who have already committed:
